

主旨: On Population Policy

Dear the Secretariat of the Steering Committee on Population Policy,

The current consultation on Population Policy should focus on basic facilities and legislation for the formation of families.

Reproduction is a natural process. When the facilities is available and affordable, all will be naturally done.

So far, housing (including rental) is a big problem and the other are employment rate and crime rate.

All can only be resolved in a stable political environment.

Under existing situation, the government , unfortunately, should consider the possibility of "legal termination". This can keep the growth within maximum limitation of resource and in furious political environment. In fact, the extremity of the climate is also a factor to support "legal termination". In coming climate, reproduction will be no long able to resolve any problem.

Adopting orphans from foreign countries, e.g. U.S., Britain, Germany, Russia etc, ?are better than importing talent, because those orphans can be grown under Hong Kong education and culture and better fit to Hong Kong.

Regards,
Horace
